DATA RELEASE CALENDAR FOR KEY STATISTICS

Introduction

The Bank of Uganda Data Release Calendar is a detailed statement outlining when particular sets of macroeconomic and financial statistics are expected to be disseminated to the public (timeliness) and how often they will be disseminated (periodicity).

An Advance Release Calendar (ARC) seeks to provide prior notice of the precise release dates on which the Bank of Uganda undertakes to release specified statistical information to the public so that they know when to expect the required information. On the other hand, the Advance Release Calendar acts as a binding assurance that the Bank offers the public that it will disseminate statistical information in a timely manner.

All statistics that inform the monthly Monetary Policy Statement will be released on the date that the Monetary Policy report is released to the public. According to the release dates for the report, these statistics will therefore be released at the latest by the third day of the month following the month to which the report refers. Among the relevant statistics are the exchange rates, interest rates, depository corporations' survey, sector credit analysis, trade statistics, Balance of Payments Statistics, Composite and Sectoral Confidence Indices and the Business Tendency and Consumer Confidence Indices.
